Special Lecture on K-culture

「The Appeal of K-drama」 by Dr. CHOI Eunjin (K-드라마의 매력, 강이자 최은진)

K-dramas have gained enormous international popularity over the past two decades, becoming one of Korea's major cultural exports. This raises a natural question: what makes K-dramas so appealing to audiences around the world? In this lecture, we will explore the defining characteristics of widely loved K-dramas. Their storylines and themes often reflect Korean culture and values. By taking a closer look at K-dramas, you will gain a deeper understanding of Korean culture and its most influential popular media.

※ Dramas: <Reply> Series, <Misaeng: Incomplete Life>, <Jewel in the Palace>, <Jumong>, <Guardian: The Lonely and Great God>, <Moon Lovers: Scarlet Heart Ryeo>
<응답하라> 시리즈, <미생>, <대장금>, <주몽>, <도깨비>, <달의 연인 - 보보경심 려>

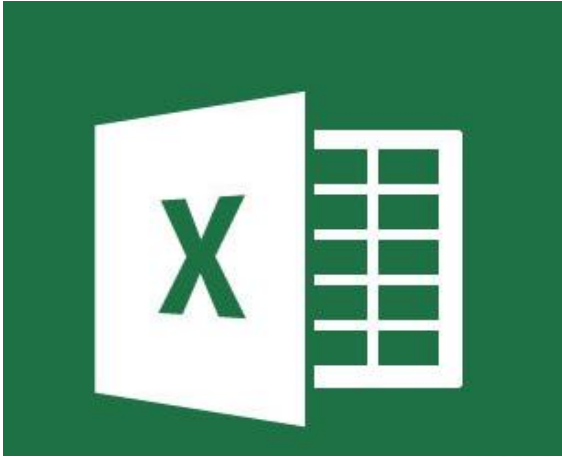

「Issues and Debates in Korean Society」 by Dr. Youngjik KIM (한국사회의 이슈와 쟁점, 강이자 김영직)

This course explores major issues in contemporary Korean society and compares them with cases from other countries. Through these comparisons, students will discuss what Korea and other societies have in common—and where they differ. In the first part of the semester, we will begin with key cultural and ideological foundations of Korean society, such as Confucianism and nationalism. We will then examine a range of current social issues in Korea, including population aging and low birth rates, urbanization and regional decline, bullying and school violence, generational conflict, gender conflict, and issues related to multicultural families and immigration. Class materials will draw largely from news articles and TV programs so that students can engage with real-world discussions and debates. In the latter part of the course, students will present their own comparative analyses, examining Korean issues alongside examples from other countries. This will help deepen students' understanding of Korea while also strengthening their research and presentation skills.
